Children's Day On May 24th

On Friday evening last, a meeting was called together between the local business men, and the local Army Camp officials. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the possibility of arranging a children's day for Thursday, May 24th.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. G. Gregson, president of the local chapter B.E.S.L., who spoke briefly on the purpose of the meeting. He then introduced Major Thompson, of the Veterans Guard, who outlined fully the idea of the Veterans Guard celebrating their fifth anniversary, by giving the children of Wainwright and district a picnic.

The chairman then called upon different business men, along with Mayor Middlemass, who in turn spoke wholeheartedly of the idea and said that they thought it was a very kind gesture on the part of the Veterans Guard.

It was decided to stage a parade in the morning, with the pipe band from the park taking part. In the afternoon, the children will congregate at the Town Hall where real army trucks will provide transportation to the camp, and the picnic site.

Once at the picnic grounds, there will be pop, ice cream, hot-dogs, all provided free by the local business men. There will also be races, ball games, and other contests, that all have nice prizes at the end for the lucky winners.

Different committees were named and it is hoped that with everyone putting their shoulder to the grind stone it should prove a big day for the kiddies.

It is anticipated that there will be a free outdoor picture show in the evening, just as the troops have it in the actual theatres of war. Also a bonfire has been arranged where there will be a general get together, and sing-song.

Parents may accompany the children, provided they have their own transportation.

The army trucks will leave the Town Hall at 3:00 p.m. and there will be guards on each truck, to insure that no accidents happen to any of the children. Also, an Army Medical Officer will be on the spot all day long, to give first aid treatment to any person suffering mishaps in the different contests during the day.

This should prove to be a big day for the kiddies, so let each and every one of us get behind the idea and help in any way, shape or form that we might be called upon. Every child of Wainwright, schools, and Wainwright district rural schools, are invited to attend, so bring the children to Wainwright on May 24, and let's make it a bang up day.

Five Candidates Enter Battle River Federal Election Fight

Five candidates were officially nominated to contest the Federal constituency of Battle River in the forthcoming Dominion election on June 11th.

The candidates are all farmers. Heading the list is the present member Robert Fair of Paradise Valley representing the Social Credit party; with other candidates being Henry Elvin Spencer of Edgerton who represented this riding from 1921 to 1935 in the Federal house, the C.C.F. nominee; George Bennett of Mannville, Progressive Conservative; Francis Clifford Saville, Hardisty, Liberal; Ewart Pearce Taylor, Hope Valley, Labor-Progressive.

Nominations were made to Charles W. Robinson of Vermilion, returning officer for the constituency.

CHANGE SMALL

Rim-fire cartridges which consist almost exclusively of 22 calibre cartridges, have been removed from the list of rationed small arms ammunition, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board states.

Board approved permits are still required for the purchase of centre fire cartridges and shot shells.

There was a day when erring people set up a golden calf and knelt to the false god Baal. Today they are more likely to buy a gold brick and fall for some demagogue's bull.

Big plans need plenty of little people to carry them out.

This Is For You

The following article written by the daughter of Mrs. F. Murray, Kinsella, Constituency Convener of the Wainwright Women's Institute will be of interest to members of the local Women's Institute.

As I look at my two-year old son, asleep in his crib, I ask myself, "What force is there, that will prevent another war in 1945-46-48, far more deadly than this war in which he will have to fight?"

And the answer is nothing!

The world with its corruption and selfishness that has caused this war and the 1914 one will mount up in the years to come until like a poisoned bolt, it will burst and drench the world in hatred and flame, death and suffering, more terrible by far than we can now imagine.

Today every parent must be asking themselves, secretly and silently perhaps, but never-the-less ask they must, "Will my son have only twenty years of laughter and living and fun, before he too, like his fathers before him, will die in a flaming hell far worse than Dieppe, Guadalcanal, or Sicily?"

No four Freedoms, or Statesmen or pre-war plan, can ensure his safety unless—unless each one of us instead of settling back after this war is won, and saying, "there, that's a job done and finished, now don't bother me, I have things of my own to attend to". Yes, indeed you will have things to attend to, but surely the most important of these is the safety of your son, yes and your daughter. It is said that the woman of the nation is the real guardian of the home. Every mother knows that it is she who a dozen times a day smashes her child back from danger and yet the biggest danger of all she hopefully, shuts her eyes to. Surely, surely it is hopeless to guard our children while they are young, while all the time a far greater menace is hanging over them, that of utter destruction for them and if they fail, for us.

Last time we said after four bitter years of war, "It is too much time to take out of our lives, we will not think of the war again, it is done with, our leaders can guide us and all we must do is follow blindly."—We did follow and blindly—shall we make the same ghastly mistake again?

Children are not raised safely through childhood by closing our eyes to danger, before illness even threatens we have our children vaccinated, why then cannot each one of us watch vigilantly over the world affairs, as vigilantly as we watch our children; they are after all one and the same thing for only by keeping the earth a safe place can we save our children.

However many thousands of miles separate us from future trouble, this war has taught us at least that the repercussions will reach us sooner or later, then entangle us.

Today there is no independent person or country, we must work one with the other. So watch, watch, watch the world as you would your child and when danger threatens snatch it back for only we the people can do this—only the individual by watching and judging for it is the people and not the few in power, who must learn to guide the world. Only then can we look with clear eyes and a light heart at our sleeping children, and promise, "There shall be lasting peace".

W.H.S. HI-LITES

A W.H.S. Student's Union meeting was held Friday, May 18th, at which the price of the prom was lowered from $2.00 per couple to $1.50. Please note the new price. It was also decided to invite Edgerton High School to attend our Annual Celebration.

WC Vaughan Ganderton Completes 2nd Tour

An original member of the squadron when it was formed in 1943, W/C V. F. "Cowboy" Ganderton, DFC, Wainwright and Ladue, Alta., officer commanding the Lion squadron, completed his second tour of operations shortly before V-E day. He has logged more than 43 attacks on enemy targets and is one of the first two airmen to complete two tours of operations with this famous outfit of the RCAF Bomber Group.

During his first tour, while crossing the enemy coast one night, his Halifax bomber was attacked by an enemy fighter which opened fire with its cannon. One cannon shell cut the controls in the cockpit, forcing the pilot to turn for home. Flying at 21,000 feet at the time of the attack, the bomber was down to 8,000 feet when it hit the English coast. At this stage the captain told the crew to bale out. All landed safely—the "Wince" landing on the back of a cow in an English meadow—thus the name of "Cowboy" which has stuck ever since. For his feat in getting the crew safely back he was awarded an immediate D.F.C.

On completion of his first tour, W/C Ganderton took over the duties of group ground training instructor for 10 months, returning later to take command of his old squadron.

"The second tour was much more eventful than the first," said W/C Ganderton. "Five times during the first 15 sorties the nose of the bomber I was flying was holed by flak. On two other occasions we were forced to stooge in over the target on three good engines and drop our bomb load. The first time, an attack on the city of Cologne, an Me. 210 attacked as we were leaving the target and opened fire on us. During the evasive action, both our gunners returned the fire until he broke off the attack."

"We were also forced to turn back one night when two engines 'packed up' on the way to the target, but luckily managed to get the aircraft down at an emergency airfield."

W/C Ganderton joined the RCAF in May 1941. He won his wings and commission at Dauphin, Man., served six months as an instructor at Calgary and arrived overseas in August, 1942.

Searle Precipitation Report No. 2

The total moisture condition, which is the main factor that governs the yield per acre for this present growing crop, has declined since April 30th, the date of the last Searle Precipitation Report No. 1.

The all-round figure for the three Prairie Provinces, taking into account both growing season rainfall and the reserves that have been stored on stubble and summerfallow land, now stands at 92% of normal, compared with 98% on April 30th and 67% a year ago.

In Alberta Crop Districts 1, 5, 6, 8, 9, 11, 12, 14 and 17 have a moisture condition considerably below normal. Crop Districts 2, 3 and 15 are better than normal.

A team is a bunch of people all doing everything they can to help another guy score.

In competition we think, "How'm I doing?" In cooperation we think, "What's to be done?"

SUPPORT HOME ENTERPRISE

The merchants of Wainwright deserve your support, no matter what you wish to buy. These times it may seem that it is easier to get what you want in the big cities, but that is not always the case.

It has been said by visitors from Edmonton, "oh, there's something that you can't get in the city." Well, that is true in a large percentage of cases.

Your local merchant has just as much stock as any other place, because, most things that are hard to get, they are rationed to the different places of business, and consequently, you see them in our stores down town.

Our merchants provide employment for different people, pay light, gas and taxes, all of which goes to make a town just what it is. Now if everybody had the same idea, to send out of town, how long would our business places remain open? Not very long I'm afraid.

The old cry is, well the price is so much cheaper at so and so's in Winnipeg. Is it? By the time you take into consideration the transportation charges (if any), the time that it takes to get the goods here, and then there is always the possibility that they don't suit you when they do arrive, I really wonder if it is any cheaper to do your business out of town. Then there is always the money order charges, stamps and stationary that have to be bought and they all cost money. True these charges are small, but so will the difference in price, between having locally and sending out of town.

So the next time you are about to send that envelope for an order out of town, just stop to think, can I get it down town? If everybody does this, well there will be nothing the matter with Wainwright, because the money spent in the town and district, remains in the town and district. Think this over.

Wainwright and Water Works

A town the size of Wainwright should have water works if at all possible.

Up to the present, the survey data has not reached the town fathers, and as it takes a long time for surveys to be accomplished there is no telling just when the word of Haddon & Miles will come through.

Wainwright is very unfortunate to have been built at its present location, but that can't be helped now, so we should put all efforts into this undertaking that Wainwright may be a better town for all the troubles involved. With the town built in a saucer like area it may prove a difficult task to dispose of the sewerage.

The cost of such an undertaking is likely to run well over the hundred thousand dollar mark, but what of it? The benefits received could not be measured in dollars and cents, but in terms of health and proper sanitation.

The finding of a favorable water supply is not going to be a hard task, as we already own two deep water wells at present, either of them capable of supplying the town with the necessary water. However, our sewerage situation is not placed in such a favorable light. There has to be a natural drainage to the sewerage, or else the cost becomes prohibitive. These matters though, will all be ironed out when the report is sent in from the engineers.

It is not expected that such an undertaking could be started this year with such a shortage of material and labor. Therefore, it might be delayed another year, but then again time will tell. Everyone should give his utmost effort to have a water and sewerage system brought into our town, when it becomes apparent that such an undertaking is possible.

Much credit is due our Council for the taking of necessary steps, that will give us a head start on this work, when and if it becomes feasible. The longer we delay, the farther away we will be from having such a convenience that has been sorely needed for many years.

Questions & Answers

Family Allowances

Q.—What are family allowances?

A.—Family allowances are regular cash grants made to families toward the maintenance, care, training, education and advancement of children.

Q.—Why should the government pay family allowances?

A.—One hundred years ago four-fifths of the population were working for themselves. Today, because of increased industrialization, the great majority of the population are earning wages or salaries. Wages are based on work done, not on the number of children in the home. The single man and married man with a family get the same rates of pay for similar work. A married couple cannot be expected to raise healthy children on a wage which may only be enough to support one person. Family allowances help to even things up.

In the same way regular cash allowances will give more equal opportunities to the families of farmers, fishermen and others working on their own. Their receipts likewise depend on what they produce, or do, rather than on the size of their families.

Q.—Is there any other reason for family allowances?

A.—There certainly is. The general prosperity of Canada depends on production, that is, on keeping the wheels of industry and agriculture running. Production depends on demand for goods or markets. And demand, in turn, depends on buying power. The distribution of $350,000,000 a year in family allowances will put cash regularly into the pockets of people who need it most. Month in, month out, they will be able to buy more food, more clothing, more of the products of our farms and factories. This will help guarantee steady employment.

EXPERIENCE OF OTHER COUNTRIES

Q.—Do other countries have family allowances?

A.—Family allowances in one form or another have been introduced in more than thirty countries. Some two-thirds of these have been set up by government legislation and the rest by industries, universities, churches, or other community organizations.

Q.—Has Australia family allowances?

A.—Yes. Family allowances were introduced in 1941 and the system is working very well.

Q.—And New Zealand?

A.—Yes. New Zealand introduced family allowances nearly twenty years ago. The amounts paid have been increased several times since. The latest increase was made after the Canadian Act became law, and brings the amount of payment quite close to our own although, all things considered, the Canadian scheme is more generous than any in the world.

Q.—What is England doing about family allowances?

A.—Sir William Beveridge, in his famous report to the British government, said that the system of social security he proposed must be based on three assumptions and the first of these was that there should be a national scheme of family allowances. Without family allowances want cannot be abolished.

Since then the British government has introduced a Family Allowances Bill under which payment will be made to parents for every child after the first. In Canada we have included the first child and our rates of payment are more generous than those proposed in Great Britain.

Q.—Who receives family allowances?

A.—Each child in Canada, under 16 years of age, maintained in a family. In other words nearly all the 3 1/2 million children in Canada.

Q.—How much does each child receive?

A.—Children under 6 years of age — $5 a month. Children between 6 and 10 — $6 a month. Children between 10 and 13 — $7 a month. Children between 13 and 16 — $8 a month.

The allowances are reduced after the fourth child because clothing, school books and other equipment can be used again by the younger children in the family. There will be a reduction of $1 for the fifth child, $2 each for the sixth and seventh.

PASTURES FOR POULTRY

Green feed is not only very important for growing chicks, advises the Poultry Branch of the Alberta Department of Agriculture, but it is the most economical feed that can be given. When it is time to allow the young birds outside, the brooder or range house should be located in a good green pasture plot, preferably alfalfa. The house should be moved frequently throughout the season to a new location, even if only two or three rods away. Cut pasture with the mower every one or two weeks to promote fresh tender growth. This new growth has a higher vitamin content and is of greater value than grass that has been allowed to grow rank and tough.

Moving the house often is also a preventive measure against some diseases. As the days become warmer and a few showers moisten the ground, outbreaks of Coccidiosis are much less likely to occur if the house is moved frequently as suggested.

QUEEN BEE LOSSES

Many beekeepers are too anxious to examine their colonies soon after the packages have been installed in the hives. Disturbance of the newly installed package often results in the bees balling and killing the queen. W. G. le Maistre, Provincial Apiarist, warns that it is not considered safe to examine a hive for a week or ten days after the package has been installed.

If the queen has not been accepted or is dead, she can usually be found outside the hive close to the entrance. It is not therefore necessary to open up the hive to see if she is still alive. Queens are very precious and difficult to obtain at this time of the year, and every precaution should be taken to save them.

CULL THE NON LAYING HENS

Now is the time to start culling the hens that are going out of production. H. J. McDaniel, Poultry Branch, Alberta Department of Agriculture, suggests that an endeavour should be made to keep the level of production up to at least fifty per cent.

By culling out the non-producers the same number of eggs is obtained the percentage of production is raised, and feed consumption is reduced by the amount the non-layers would eat. In addition, congested fall markets are avoided. The non-layers can be finished in about the same way as broilers with a view to producing the best possible grade. House room will be needed later for pullets, so the elimination of non-producers should begin now.

POISON GOPHERS EARLY

Gopher poison should be used now for best results. If left for a few weeks, increases in the gopher population will require a much larger expenditure of time and labour to produce the same results. Whether a prepared poison or home-made formula is preferred it should be used early. Gophers take poisoned grain much more readily now than when more green vegetation is available. In order to save both time and material the wise farmer will commence control operations without delay.

HELPFUL HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Before repainting over glossy enamel, it is as well to rub down the glossy surface with steel wool to remove the sheen and provide a better holding surface for the new coat of paint or enamel.

Here's a guide to paint brush cleaning: Brushes used in shellac or alcohol stain should be cleaned with alcohol. Brushes used in lacquer should be cleaned with lacquer thinner. Brushes used in water-thinned paint should be washed in water. Brushes used for regular oil paint work can be cleaned in turpentine.

Overhanging eaves and deep porches are light thieves as far as the rooms they adjoin are concerned. Such shadowing can be cut to a minimum by painting the under sides of the eaves or the ceiling of the porch a light color.

If your home looks too high for its length, try painting the roof a darker color than the side walls. Dark roofs always seem to sink lower to the ground. If the house looks too low, paint the roof a lighter color.

At Last— Fair Play for the Farmer

"Canadian farmers have never had a fair return for their labour. They are forced to buy in a protected market at relatively high prices and to sell in a world market at generally low prices. What agriculture needs is not crutches to carry its disability; it needs to have the disability removed. This can only be accomplished by permanent measures and long range planning."

John Bracken

At last—a farmer fights for fair play for farmers! For more than twenty years John Bracken, the Farmer, was the undefeated leader of a Farmers' Party. To-day, as leader of a great, national, progressive party, he is determined that throughout the length and breadth of Canada there shall be a square deal for agriculture... fair play for the farmer... on a permanent basis!

Farmers have seldom had a fair share of the nation's income. Rarely do they receive a just reward for their endless labours. John Bracken means to stop, once and for all, the unfair discrimination against farmers, the unjust economic practices which make it impossible for farmers to obtain fair prices for the fruits of their labour.

"It is the responsibility of the nation," says the leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, "to see that this great inequity shall not be perpetuated... I know where I stand in the matter. Let me make that position clear. It is not fore-ordained that farmers shall work for less pay than anybody else; or have their children receive only one-quarter the chance of a secondary education or one-tenth of the chance of a university education that other children get; or see their wives forced into lives of toil, often 12 but sometimes 14 hours a day—Sundays and holidays included... The trouble is that no one with the necessary authority has determined to correct the basic economic ills of Agriculture."

To-day, John Bracken, the Farmer, seeks the necessary authority to put into immediate operation the far-reaching Progressive Conservative policies that will permanently ensure fair play for the farmer. Here are just some of the points in the Progressive Conservative plan for the definite, continuous and permanent protection of farmers against income collapse and wide extremes of income fluctuation:

The Farmer shall be guaranteed a proportionate share of the nation's income.

A permanent policy for forward contract prices shall be guaranteed to farmers—by law.

The prices guaranteed will be calculated by a non-political council, and will be based on the farmer's proportionate share of the national income. These prices will be announced before the production seasons begin.

This policy will increase present average farm income by not less than twenty per cent.

It takes a farmer to understand farmers' problems. Only a farmer knows the full economic injustice from which farmers suffer. To-day, John Bracken is fighting for fair play for every farmer. The leader of the Progressive Conservatives is determined to bring security and prosperity to farmers permanently. Join in the fight. Help him to win his life-long struggle to give Agriculture a place in Canada's prosperity, not for a day—but for all time to come.

A Farmer fights for you your help.

John Bracken—The Farmer

On the 11th of December, 1942, John Bracken stood in the Auditorium in Winnipeg before a great concourse of people. John Bracken—the Farmer—was accepting the leadership of a great resurgent people's party. In ringing tones he was speaking of "The People's Charter". And the soul-searching sincerity of this man of the soil, with his vision of Canada, of Canadians and the "world of plenty that lies within our grasp" was deeply moving.

Picture the background of this man—this moment. John Bracken, the farm boy, on his father's farm in Ontario, milking, haying, carrying in the wood, plowing... then young Bracken, honours student at the Ontario Agricultural College going to Manitoba as representative of the Department of Agriculture... on to Saskatchewan as Superintendent of Fairs and Farmers' Institutes and Secretary of the Provincial Livestock Association... then, later, John Bracken, author, writing books about farms, farming, farmers...

And now years later, in Winnipeg, John Bracken, the farmer, is speaking of "the right of farmers and other primary producers to a fair share of the nation's income." Notice the simplicity of the language he uses, clear, concise—sincere.

"During the last decade," he is saying, "farm income fell to such a low average as to become of very great concern in our Canadian economy. It is the responsibility of the nation to see that this great inequity shall not be perpetuated."

Then, suddenly his voice rises, becomes even clearer, more incisive. "I may say quite frankly that if it had not been for that plank in your platform which provides for a square deal for agriculture, I would not be here."

Two years later, in Alliston, Ontario, — again the same simplicity, the moving sincerity.

"I am an agrarian," said John Bracken, "and I am a Canadian... who seeks to correct the major social injustice of our day—the unfairly small share of the national income that goes to farmers and farm women and farm workers." Then, with a statesman's enlargement of vision, he added, "When the injustice to the farmer is removed, the economy of Canada as a whole will be strengthened."

No one could be less parochial in his outlook—more deeply concerned with national welfare than John Bracken, the farmer who embarked twenty years ago on a career so successful as to be without precedent in contemporary political history within the British Commonwealth of Nations.

RECIPES FOR RHUBARB USING MINIMUM OF SUGAR

Straight from the garden to the pot—that's the ideal way to handle rhubarb. If it is to be purchased, be sure the stalks are crisp and firm so that the rhubarb will be tender and appetising. Wilted flabby stalks will become stringy, poor-flavoured rhubarb when cooked. Stalks from 1/4 to 1 inch are best.

Never peel rhubarb. Peeled rhubarb loses its colour and eye appeal. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, offer some rhubarb recipes which will not make too great a dent in the sugar ration. To prepare rhubarb—

Pour boiling water over cut rhubarb, let stand for 5 minutes. Drain and cook without additional water. Two tablespoons of sugar to 1 cup of diced raw rhubarb is usually sufficient for palatability when rhubarb is very young and mild. The sauce will taste sweeter if the sugar is not added until after the rhubarb is cooked.

Rhubarb Bread Pudding

2 cups diced rhubarb
2 cups boiling water
4 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt

1 egg yolk
1 cup milk
2 cups bread cubes
1 egg white

Pour boiling water over diced rhubarb and let stand for 5 minutes. Drain. Add sugar and salt and let stand for 10 minutes. Beat egg yolk, add milk and pour over bread cubes, then add rhubarb mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Turn into a greased baking dish and bake in a moderately hot oven, 375°F., for 1 hour. Six servings.

HOW TO MAKE SMOOTH, GLOSSY BROWN GRAVY

Gravy can make or mar a cook's reputation, just as it can make or mar a meal. Actually, too, the achievement of a rich, velvety product is quite a simple feat. For gravy makers, however, who aren't up to all the tricks of the trade, the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture offers two rules, which, if followed will result in glossy gravy, free from lumps, the pride of any housewife.

Rule number one deals with the proper blending of the flour and fat. They should be well blended, and the flour browned before the liquid is added. Remember—the gravy won't brown after the liquid is added.

Rule number two is concerned with adding and blending the liquid. It may be water, meat or chicken stock, liquor from canned or cooked vegetables, milk or tomato juice. Whatever it is, the liquid should be cold when added to the fat-flour mixture. Also, it should be added gradually and the mixture stirred constantly during the operation.

An excellent method of making sure of a rich, brown gravy is to place the required amount of flour for thickening the gravy in the corner of the roasting pan while the meat is cooking. Provided the meat is roasted at medium temperature, the flour will turn a rich golden brown by the time the meat is done. However, if the temperature of the oven is too high, the flour will become too dark in colour and scorched in flavour and consequently unsuitable for thickening the gravy.

Gravy should not be made too far in advance of serving, otherwise it will dry out, become thick and pasty and form a scum on top which is difficult to blend back smoothly into the gravy. For late-to-dinner members of the family, keep the gravy hot in the top of a double boiler, closely covered.

And here's a tip on thickening stews. Place flour in a small salad dressing jar, add twice as much cold water as flour and cover tightly. Shake vigorously for a minute. Result—a thickening paste free from lumps which may be easily added to the hot stew.

Pan Gravy

Add 2 or 3 tablespoons boiling water to frying or broiler pan used in cooking steak. Stir well to loosen particles adhering to pan. Season as desired and serve on steak.

Brown Gravy

1/4 cup fat (dripping from roast)
1/4 cup flour
2 cups cold liquid (water or meat or vegetable stock).

Salt and pepper to taste. Always make gravy in the pan in which the meat was cooked. When meat is done, remove from pan to a hot platter and keep warm in oven with heat off or in warming oven. Pour off excess fat leaving 1/4 cup in pan. Add flour and cook, stirring constantly, until flour becomes brown but not burned. Remove pan from direct heat and add cold liquid. Return to low heat and cook, stirring constantly, until gravy boils and thickens. Season to taste. Makes 2 cups gravy. Serve with roast beef, lamb, veal, pork, poultry, chops, baked heart, baked or fried liver, or meat loaf.

Variations

Milk Gravy: Use milk as all or part of the liquid. Serve with roast poultry, veal or pork, chops or cutlets.

Giblet Gravy: Add finely chopped, cooked, steamed or baked giblets to brown or milk gravy. Serve with roast poultry.

Onion Gravy: Add 1/2 cup raw sliced onion to fat in pan. Cook until clear and golden brown, stirring occasionally to prevent burning. Add flour and proceed as for brown gravy. Serve with roast beef, baked heart, baked or fried liver or meat loaf.

Tomato Gravy: Use sieved canned tomatoes or tomato juice as all or part of the liquid. Serve with roast beef, veal, lamb or pork or baked or fried liver, baked heart, chops or cutlets, meat or liver loaf.

Real Social Security or Rationed Scarcity?

To the political and economic reactionary, Social Security is something to be used as a bribe to win votes—a sop to soothe unrest. Social makeshifts of that kind are actually offered to-day as political substitutes for sound, economic planning for the post-war reconstruction of Canada.

To the State Socialist, on the other hand, Social Security is a bookish theory seeking to prove that poverty would be much more endurable if only it were much more general.

And now, listen for a moment to John Bracken, the forthright leader of the Progressive Conservative Party:—"The State here in Canada, unlike in Germany, is the servant of the people, not its master. Finance, and economic mechanisms associated with it, must likewise be regarded as the servants, not the masters, of our economy. The underwriting of prosperity AND social security is a proper function of the State."

Notice how closely prosperity and social security are linked together.

We are determined that Social Security shall no longer be regarded as a charity but as what it is—a social obligation and national responsibility of the very first magnitude and importance. Social Security must grow with prosperity—because the degree to which social services may be provided is determined by the size of the national income. We are pledged to maintain that income at a high prosperous level. It is against this background of plenty for all, that the Progressive Conservatives see Social Security.

The Progressive Conservative Party is pledged to provide, without delay, a uniform and comprehensive social security programme for all Canadians, including:

- ✓Extended unemployment insurance coverage.
- ✓Adequate payments for the maintenance of unemployables.
- ✓Accident and sickness benefits.
- ✓Children's allowances.
- ✓Maternity benefits.
- ✓Widows' benefits.
- ✓Retirement pensions.
- ✓Increased old age pensions at age 65.
- ✓Increased pensions for the blind.

Where any of these social services are administered provincially, we shall provide grants large enough to ensure adequate standards of social security for all Canadians.

Compare this positive and complete programme with the make-shift expedients of other parties. No other party can equal or even approach John Bracken's guarantee of security for all Canadians.

It's rational security—NOT rationed scarcity.

Liberal Working Plan for Full Post-War Employment...

For Veterans—$750,000,000 to get them started in good paying jobs in industry, on the land or in business for themselves as each of them chooses.

Home Loans—$400,000,000 to finance the biggest building scheme this country has ever known.

Family Allowances—$250,000,000 a year to lessen the burdens of parenthood and to equalize the opportunities of young Canadians for success and happiness.

Export Credits—We've got to have exports if we're going to have jobs. Your Liberal Government has arranged to finance war-wrecked countries who will be good customers later.

Industrial Development Bank—Your Liberal Government has set up machinery to help enterprising Canadians develop new businesses.

Farm Loans—One man in every three in Canada works on the farm. To help them get better equipment, your Liberal Government has arranged that they can borrow the money they need for better working and living conditions.

Floor Prices—The Liberal Government's policy is that when farmers and fishermen prosper, so do other Canadians. It has therefore taken action to put a floor under the prices of farm and fishery products.

Reduction of Taxes—Your Liberal Government believes in jobs first. To this end, taxes will come down to free spending power.

These are just some of many steps in the Liberal Government's Working Plan to ensure full employment after the war. In addition it has stimulated tremendous private savings in Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates; put through Unemployment Insurance, set up a special Department of Reconstruction, staffed by experts. In fact all its policies are directed to the same end—a "high and stable level of employment and income."

JOBS! Jobs with bright futures for the young men and women coming out of the Armed Services with the best part of their lives before them! Jobs for all! Jobs with big prospects and good, reliable money that will keep its buying power! After all the hard work, sacrifice and self-discipline which has brought us through the war, the people of this country have earned a brighter future in a better, juster, grander Canada than we have ever known!

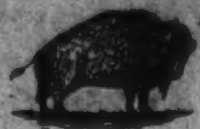

LOOK how much Canadians have accomplished, here on the home front, even without the energy and initiative of all the vigorous young people now in uniform, and their zest for daring! What is there Canada can't do with them back on the home team? Why, with their help, we Canadians are headed full speed for the greatest period in our history!

THE all-important question today is the civilian staff-work and leadership which we call "government." The Liberals have a working plan. It's big and bold! Parts of it are outlined for your judgment in the left-hand column. It has been designed with the aid of the keenest minds in every phase of industry, agriculture, labour and learning. The plan will work. In fact it is already bringing results. It will continue to do so! The Liberals can tell you this with confidence because they have had successful experience in operating nationwide plans.

VOTE for your Liberal candidate. Make sure the team which made this plan for full employment shall see it through—and win the peace!

SYDENHAM

On May 11th, nine members of Sydenham Victory Club, met at the home of the president, Mrs. LeBlanc.

Letters of thanks were received from Harold Karr, Wilfred Croteau, Ross Myers and J. Glenn, for Easter parcels they had received from this club. Harold Karr, Walter Jones and J. Bottaro who took part in the invasion of Sicily and Italy were transferred to Belgium and then to Holland.

Harold Karr in writing said, "The horses in Belgium are fine big horses and when hauling big loads on the roads here, they use four horses and always two men to drive the four horses. Another odd thing is the way they work dogs in this country. They have three wheeled cycles for delivery, and the dog is hitched to the front of the cycle, and the dog pulls, as well as the man on the cycle peddling."

The members were sorry to hear that Bob Myers and Bernard Christenson had been wounded, and glad to receive later word, that they were both doing well.

Morris Fraser, R.C.A.F., a former resident of Sydenham, has returned from Overseas and we welcome him home, the first serviceman of this district to return home.

ISN'T SO SMALL!

Ordinarily one Canadian in every six gainfully employed, earns his livelihood in a "small business." It may be a farm, a store or a lumber-yard; an architect's office or a service station. Taken together, these individual enterprises provide a very substantial part of Canada's total jobs—must continue to do so after the war.

During the years ahead many people who dropped small business for war reasons will want to return to their accustomed or new ways of making a living. Thus old businesses will be revived. Many new ones will be started by returned men and people now in war industries. The commercial banks will do their part to afford assurance that no sound credit requirement need be left unserved in the field of small business.

As such businesses grew, they create additional job openings; that has been the pattern of Canadian enterprises. Most large companies began in a small way. And practically all could name some bank which played a part in their growth by providing the loans they needed to finance their day-to-day operations.

Your bank stands ready to serve businesses, small or large, well established or just starting out. Banks do not initiate such businesses—but they do furnish necessary working capital and many other forms of banking service.

CONTINUATION OF

Q.—Is it true that some provinces will be paying family allowances for other provinces?

A.—No. The Federal Treasury collects taxes from all the people of Canada on an equal basis. Part of these taxes has been paid by people resident, say, in Quebec, or Ontario, British Columbia and by corporations having their head offices there. In most provinces a good part of the revenue was earned on business done with people in another province. Similarly, customs duties and sales taxes collected in Montreal may finally be paid in the price of goods sold in Saskatchewan.

RELATION TO INCOME TAX
Q.—Is it true that those who pay income tax already get what is, in effect, an allowance through a tax reduction for each dependent child?

A.—Yes.
Q.—Will they receive both the family allowance and their present income tax deduction?

A.—No. They will be paid the family allowance, but the amount of their tax deduction will be reduced by the amount of the family allowance that they will receive. In other words, those whose present tax deduction is already greater than the amount of their family allowance, will be in the same position as before. Those whose tax deduction is less than their family allowance, will benefit.

Q.—Will people have to apply for the family allowance if income tax deductions for their children are more than they would receive by way of family allowance?

A.—No. Income tax payers save the option of applying for the family allowance or of waiving their claim to the family allowance and claiming the full deduction for their children under income tax.

No one can say in advance, however, that he or she will not benefit from family allowances. Income may change during the course of a year. Anyone who is uncertain whether or not he or she will benefit from family allowances more than from the tax deduction should register for the family allowance and in this way be on the safe side. The income tax payer who applies for and receives the family allowance can't possibly be worse off—he will, in most cases be better off.

Q.—Will the allowance count as income for income tax purposes?

A.—No, it is not income for taxation purposes.

REGISTRATION

Q.—Where can registration or application forms be obtained?

A.—Forms will be delivered through the post office to every household in which children under 16 are living. Additional forms can be obtained at any post office.

Q.—Are birth certificates required with the application?

A.—No. Through the cooperation of the provinces, births noted on the registration forms will be checked against provincial records. In some cases a further inquiry may have to be made to the parent or other applicant (especially for children born outside Canada, unless birth certificates are attached to the application).
Q.—Can registration be made in any language other than English or French?

A.—No. Any person speaking a foreign language should secure assistance in registering in either English or French, and should take particular pains to write clearly so that there can be no mistake as to names and addresses necessary to make payments.

Q.—Should Indians register.
A.—Yes. Forms will be sent to the Indian Agents who will conduct the registrations.
